

Table of contents

Foreword	5
Comparative Analysis of Municipal Public Services in Romania and the United States: The Case of Water and Wastewater Services	7
Andrew Ewoh, Lucica Matei
Bottlenecks in place marketing and their effects on attracting target groups	28
Jasper Eshuis, Erik Braun, Erik-Hans Klijn
Assessing the Applicability of Market Segmentation in the Development of Elderly Care	44
Sanna Sintonen, Timo Hokkanen, Daniela Grudinschi, Jukka Hallikas, Leena Kaljunen
Organizational and Personal Antecedents in Adaptation of Market-Oriented in the Public Sector. An Empirical Study of Local Municipal Social-Welfare Agencies	61
Nourit Segev, Amnon Boehm, Eran Vigoda-Gadot
E-Government Services. A Comparative Conceptual Framework in the EU 27 in View to Substantiate the Public Marketing Strategies	79
Ani Matei, Carmen Săvulescu
The Impact of Environmental Public Policy Tools on Behaviour Decision Process	109
Christophe Alaux
Historical stages in the evolution of public sector marketing: current situation and future prospects	130
José Luis Vázquez-Burguete, Helena Alves, Amparo Cervera
Marketing and leadership in the public sector. A research on marketing use in public organizations in Romania's North-Western Region	154
Andrei Țigănaș, Tudor Țiclău, Cristina Mora, Laura Bacali
Strategic responsiveness and market repositioning in Higher Education	180
Luminița-Gabriela Popescu
Analyzing patterns of use of electronic books in a sample of Spanish undergraduates. Implications for marketing in university libraries	194
José Luis Vázquez-Burguete, Ana Lanero, Pablo Gutiérrez, Maria Purificación García
From marketing mix to a new strategic tool of communication – mix of communication	213
Mircea Aurel Niță	