

Content

Foreword.....	7
Chapter 1
Regional Development and Specific Decisions in Environmental Issues	17
1.1. Concept of Regional Development	17
1.2. Regional Development and Environmental Issues	22
1.3. Economic approaches to environmental issues.....	28
1.4. Negative environmental externalities	31
Chapter 2
Decision-making system in the European Union. Subsidiarity test	37
2.1. Characteristics of the sector	37
2.2. Regulatory institutions.....	39
2.3. Multi-level governance system of environmental policy	41
2.4. Influence of the characteristics of the public decision-making system on the national decision-making system.....	47
2.5. Case study	50
2.6. Implications	55
Chapter 3
Coverage of the social cost associated with negative externalities – the unsub of added-value	57
Chapter 4
Collaborative governance and regional development	65
4.1. Assessment of power in collaborative government projects	69
4.2. Public participation and environmental decisions	73
4.3. The government has collaborated on local environmental issues: case studies	78
4.3.1. Community participation in environmental decisions in Niger Delta	80
4.3.2. Public participation in regional planning: case “Sustainable Development Strategy in South East England”	82
4.3.3. The consequence is that the public is not involved in environmental decisions: the case of “the public auction for the concession of public land in Pennsylvania, USA”	84
4.3.4. Legislative Acts of Collaborative Governance on Environmental Affairs in Australia	86
Conclusions	91
References.....	95